

EXTRA.

2 O'CLOCK.

SLINEY'S DEATH DAY.

Filed for the Week Beginning
Monday, April 10.

Boh Lyons's Murderer Resentenced
To-Day by Justice Ingraham.

An Affecting Interview with His Aged Mother—His Father's Death.

Michael T. Silney, whose conviction of the murder of Butcher "Bob" Lyons at 132 Cherry street, the afternoon of Nov. 25, 1891, was confirmed by the Court of Appeals, was brought down from Sing Sing this morning for resentence.

MICHAEL SLINEY.

The prisoner was in charge of State Detective Jackson, and entered the Court of Oyer and Terminer at precisely 10.30. A moment later Justice Ingraham entered the court, and Assistant District-Attorney Wellman moved that sentence be pronounced.

Mr. House of Friend & House, counsel for the prisoner, interposed an objection, on the ground that the Court

When asked if he had anything to say to the crowd, a sense of death about him was pronounced. Slaney shook his head, and stood stoically facing the crowd. His listless eyes were staring, his mouth hanging open without any outward indication of feeling, and bowed respectfully when Justice Ingraham had finished speaking.

The time fixed for the execution is the week beginning Monday, April 10, 1906. The coroner, John W. Jackson, led Slaney into the office, where he had a three minutes' interview with his wife and mother, and then took him to the gallows.

During the waiting scene, which the court officers felt obliged to interrupt because of the weeping of the mother, which would be heard throughout the corridor.

It was said in court that the father of the condemned man, but who was not present, kept Slaney in jail for several months, died last Slinney shook hands with several acquaintances whom he met on the way to the Third Avenue "L" station, and bade them good-by. He returned to Sixth Avenue and Rockaway.

Slinney was convicted in the Court of Over and Terminer, before Justice Ingraham and a jury, June 14, 1931, on the charge of murder in the first degree. He was defended by his attorneys, Friend & House, and argument was made before the full Bench of the Court of Appeals. On Feb. 11, 1932, a decision affirming the conviction was handed down Feb. 11.

Slinney was committed Nov. 25, 1891, in Lyons's butcher shop, at 152 Cherry street. The instrument used was a cleaver, and the blow nearly beheaded the victim.

A Coroner's jury practically exonerated Slinney, but he was not released from custody. He persisted in his claim of the murder, first accusing James Lyons, the brother of the murdered woman, and then the man who was to SuppHynes acknowledging his guilt and exonerating from all blame the man he had formerly accused.

BISHOP WIGGER'S EXPLANATION

Mgr. Stotoli's Letter Was Accidentally Overlooked, It Is Said.

A close friend of Bishop Wigger announces that the reason the Bishop delayed acting upon Papal Delegate Stotoli's instructions in the controversy concerning St. Thomas Church in Bayonne, N. J., was because Mr. Stotoli's letter was accidentally laid away, with 30 of the other letters which the reports that had come in simultaneously with it.

After discovering the oversight, Bishop Wigger, it is said, immediately wired an apology to Mr. Stotoli.

"JIMMIE" WAKELY ACQUITTED.
He Was Accused of Knocking Down a Blind Woman.

The action for damages brought by Catherine Kelly, a blind newswoman, against "Jimmie" Wakely in the City Court, has resulted in a verdict for the latter.

Mrs. Kelly accused Wakely of having knocked her down and kicked her, in front of his saloon at Forty-second street and Sixth avenue, in May of this month. The jury didn't believe her story.

PAINTER JOHN PETTIE DEAD.
Landseer's Successor in the Royal Academy Carried Off.

LONDON, Feb. 21.—John Pettie, K. A., the painter, is dead.

He was born in Edinburgh, Scotland, in 1839, and exhibited his earliest works in the Royal Scottish Academy. He came to London in 1862, and in 1866 was elected A. R. S. and in 1872 he A. in the place of Sir Edwin Landseer.

"Admiral"

CIGARETTES are made from a higher-cost leaf than any cigarette made in this country, irrespective of selling price. Higher skilled and higher paid workmanship.

The only recognized high-grade cigarette by the leading clubs and hotels of New York.

"Admiral" is not made by a brand.